In for a pound: Youngsters can gain admission at a cheaper rate for the Stockport County game

WE carried out a detailed supporters' survey to assist the club in continually improving every area of service, quality and value for money in August 1994.

More than 900 people responded and all the results were published in the following Blues News and matchday programme.

With the construction of the New South Stand to hopefully start any day now, the club feel it is again appropriate to canvas peoples' opinions concerning the development of the Evans Halshaw Stand and all sorts of other aspects about Adams Park and Wycombe Wanderers.

The latest supporters survey is being launched today in The Blues News and will be repeated tomorrow in the Brighton and Hove Albion matchday programme.

As before, every fully completed questionnaire will be entered into a free prize draw which will take place at half time on Saturday, February 24 when Wycombe Wanderers play Stockport County.

The club are asking every supporter to answer 50 questions, the answers to which should identify any areas that may require additional improvement. In return for taking the time and trouble to respond, among the prizes the club will give away are hospitality tickets for later this season and a dozen signed Wycombe Wanderers footballs.

Forthcoming promotions will include Kid-A-Quid on Saturday, February 24, when we take on play-off rivals Stockport County at Adams Park. Every child under 16 will be admitted onto the terraces for only £1 (no restrictions apply).

Capri-Sun is doing another drinks giveaway that day, along with Bluey the Swan, for the younger children.

Incentives

On Saturday, March 2, MBNA International Bank Ltd is visiting Adams Park to do a direct promotion at the Swindon Town match for the Wycombe Wanderers Visa Card as they run schemes for both clubs.

They will again be offering incentives for anyone who has not yet applied. The main benefits of the scheme are no annual fee, a range of financial advantages and no booking fee for Wycombe Wanderers Visa Card holders who book tickets on the credit card hotline etc.

Wycombe Wanderers will stage its first Mothers' Day at Adams Park on Saturday, March 16, as a prelude to Mothering Sunday the next day.

Mothers will be allowed in to see Wycombe play Brentford at a concessionary rate and can enter a free half-time draw for a bouquet of flowers and a bottle of Laurent Perrier champagne, which will be presented on the pitch.

Also, Lucozade Sport is intending to do another promotion for Lucozade Sport Still Orange or Lemon and Lime via the tea bars, which have been run by the club since the start of the season.

On Easter Monday, April 8, Mars Confectionery Ltd is giving away more than 500 items of confectionery to children via Bluey the Swan, before Wycombe Wanderers entertain Oxford United in a local derby.

Finally, the club are on the look out for a group of majorettes for pre-match and half-time entertainment. Any group who would like to perform at Adams Park, please contact the sales and marketing department on (01494) 472100.

We are poised for a good run

HAVING lost only four games so far this season, we now enter into our remaining 23 games hoping we can improve on our wins record.

We have virtually every player back from injuries and suspensions so things look bright for 1996.

We have now been granted the planning permission for the new stand and I am told work should start in March. This will be an exciting new venture that will put Wycombe on a new peak for the start of next season and certainly I can guarantee that when you come to the ground at the start of 1996/97 you will see an impressive stadium and hopefully a team that we can be proud of.

I am particularly delighted that Keith Ryan is now back to full fitness and Simon Stapleton, who has been out for more than a year, has started training and has played two reserve games. I hope that by the time you read the newspaper he will have had another game under his belt and will soon be back to full fitness.

By Manager
Alan Smith

The only outstanding long-term injury at the moment is Matt Crossley and he continues to make progress.

It will be the first time since David Kemp and I joined the club that everybody has been available for selection, and with the new discipline on the field, I think we can look forward to a very exciting latter end of the season.

I have been particularly pleased with the youth team and, at the moment of writing these notes, they are second in their division of the South East Counties League.

I think Neil Smilie and Jim Melvin should be congratulated on building such a good atmosphere within the team and as many of them will be only in the second year of their apprenticeship next year, I think we can look forward to a bright future.

As I have said before, we do have a community scheme at the club. This is not only involved with professional football, it is also there for players who just wish to enjoy the game.

I think this is something that we should push further as I am not sure that the schools and local clubs in the area are aware of the services we offer.

I really think this is something we must make known to the public much more often.

During the last few weeks we have drawn with Swindon and Notts County, who are certainly two of the better teams in the division.

I think that with several games coming up over the next few weeks, I will be very disappointed if we did not take maximum points.

I must say I have been disappointed at the level of our crowds this season, and I would, therefore, encourage you to bring family and friends along to the ground as there is a great atmosphere, and I am sure you will enjoy your stay at Adams Park.

Courage helps the healing process

CAPTAIN'S LOG
By Terry Evans

JUST before Christmas the whole team made two visits to Wycombe General Hospital. We took posters, sweets and spent plenty of time on every ward which was very enjoyable.

It definitely brought us down to earth seeing what some of the adults and children are going through, especially when we hear about our injuries which are insignificant by comparison.

To have Keith Ryan warming up with the lads and being named in the squad for the Notts County home match was a big boost.

The reception he received from the crowd before the game was excellent. It is almost a year since he last played in the first team.

His hard work and dedication may have gone unseen by supporters but I can confirm that it has been a long uphill battle with a couple of minor set-backs along the way for good measure. I have never heard him complain. He just gets on with the job.

We all hope that the injury is now behind him and he can concentrate on gaining full match fitness.

The treatment room is at last beginning to look quite bare with Staples (Simon Stapleton) very close to a return.

I only hope that we can keep it that way to give us the best possible chance of a push up the table.

Now that the new signings have settled in, the team spirit is first class and we are working hard for each other.

We have been concentrating on keeping it tight at the back. From a defender's point of view, a clean sheet is what we are always striving for and of late it has needed good strikes to stop us achieving this.

If we can defend in numbers it frustrates sides and gives us confidence. We may have drawn far too many games but I believe that we are known in the league as a very hard team to beat.

We ended Shrewsbury's long unbeaten run quite comprehensively. I felt that we controlled the game for long periods which gave us a lift for the visit to Swindon.

Even though the conditions in the West Country were very difficult, the lads were up for the task and in the end we felt disappointed with a draw.

With these two excellent performance's behind us and the prospect of further points from the games against Brentford and Rotherham our Christmas fixtures looked to be going totally to plan.

However, the British weather left us feeling quite cheesed off. Our display at home to Notts County, though, was quite exceptional. When their goalkeeper dived to save a rasping Dave Carroll strike, I looked up at the scoreboard and noticed only 21 seconds had past.

They were never able to recover from then and I felt we dominated the entire game. Of course we were disappointed that we could not produce a handful of goals from the 22 corners and endless pressure but it is fair to say that we will probably play much worse as the season unfolds yet win those games.

The introduction of Rhino gave both the team and the supporters a big lift. I wish that we could have capped his return with a victory that was so richly deserved. I have already heard supporters saying that we have a good chance of making the play-offs.

It is worth mentioning that we are only just halfway through the season, with everything still to play for.

The gaffer is still enjoying a honeymoon period getting to know the lads, the club and the staff. He has only been here a few months and I feel that some people expected too much.

It nearly always takes a long time for a player to settle in. Yours truly can remember a debut appearance for Wycombe against Hereford which was, to be kind to myself, quite woeful.

The tasks of a new management team are a lot harder, but I believe all the hard work and new ideas are starting to pay dividends.

Tickets in town

WYCOMBE Wanderers' tickets can be brought before matchdays at Wanderers 'In Town' in the Octagon Shopping Centre in High Wycombe.

The tickets are for the AXA Equity and Law Stand and the Evans Halshaw Stand for the club's home fixtures.

Tickets for all matches can also be purchased from the shop. The shop's opening hours are from Monday to Saturday, between 9am and 5.30pm.

Anyone wishing to purchase seats for home fixtures can only do so by visiting the Commercial Office at Adams Park or telephoning the Credit Card Hotline on (01494) 441118.

The Commercial Office are open Monday to Friday 9am until 5.30pm with the Credit Card Hotline open from Monday to Friday, between 9.15am and 5.15pm. For Saturday matches, the opening hours for ticket sales are between 10am and 3pm with the card hotline open from 10am until 1pm.

Think of a number

THE club shop Wanderers In Town is now offering the additional service of getting any clothing garments numbered and personalised.

The purchase of a heat fusion press now means that any customer can get their favourite sporting garment - football replica shirt, sweat shirt, jogging bottoms etc numbered and personalised. The fusion press is able to cope with any garment of any size - children's and adults'.

The cost and colour of the numbers are: £3 per 9in number, navy or white; 50p per 2 1/2in letter, navy or white; £1 per 3in letter - two-tone colour (navy and white).

For more information please ring (01494) 450957.

WHEN customers buy Wycombe Wanderers' video So Very Near from either Wanderers In Town or the Corner Flag Club Shop they can claim the High Fives video for free.

High Fives, which is a compilation video of Wycombe Wanderers' back-to-back successes in the Evening Standard Five-A-Side tournament, was released last Summer. It costs £14.99.

So Very Near is the compilation of Wycombe Wanderers' first season in the Endleigh League Division Two. It shows all the goals throughout their nine-month campaign home and away and also contains the goals from their FA Cup run to the third round.

It was a pretty odd name for a motor car, too.

Brewed to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Abingdon MG factory, this strong, premium Morland ale is as unique as the one-off vintage MG it was named after.

Definitely one for the enthusiast!

THE BLUES NEWS

Youth team look good

Smillies' trainees go second in the league

IT'S now six months since I joined the club and this is the first time I have put pen to paper for The Blues News.

At the time of writing we have just defeated Wimbledon 1-0 and the team have moved into second place in the South East Counties League.

You could say that it is a fortuitous time to be reporting back to you.

Well I think everybody is aware that this is the first YTS intake that the club have had. Our side are supplemented with some second-year non-contract boys and schoolboys.

The majority of our side are first years and it is to their credit that they are now in their present position.

Having come to this job from a caretaker/manager's position at Gillingham where short-term results were the ultimate guideline, I am aware that a youth team will be judged by the players that it produces for the first team. This is a long term goal.

In between we must find a balance whereby the youth players can learn from their successes and mistakes without playing in a team which is at the wrong end of the table and where nobody looks a good player.

The young players at Wycombe are in a fortunate position. They are at a club where the manager is looking to bring players through and believes in a strong youth policy.

Both Alan Smith and 'Kempy' (David Kemp) have worked at youth level in the past and take an active interest in the team now.

Alan certainly got worked up on the touchline at Wimbledon when they were putting us under pressure late in the game.

Also behind the scenes the club are progressive with superb facilities.

YOUTH TEAM UPDATE
By Manager
Neil Smillie

The boys need to know how lucky they are to get this chance and that they have a responsibility to the club and themselves - they all have a wonderful opportunity at Wycombe.

My job is extremely enjoyable and this will certainly increase when I see some of our own players coming through into the first team.

The YTS we have now came through some very difficult pre-season games, without a win. But they won the one that mattered on the first day of the season at Brentford.

We had a few decent results but then went into reverse - going out of the League Cup and Southern Junior Floodlight Cup, both being away games.

In fact out of the first 12 games, 9 were away.

Abilities

Just before the FA Youth Cup game with Watford we beat Colchester and Reading. That good run carried into the game and since then confidence has increased in their own abilities.

When young lads come to a club they are filled with enthusiasm and, a while after, there is a dip in form as they try to come to terms with not only training everyday but new routines and, for some, living away from home for the first time.

They are now showing signs of having adjusted. The players are benefiting from daily training and coaching and they are responding to what I expect of them.

Doing fine: Lee Allen in action during Wycombe's South East Counties League clash last November

The youth team are just the tip of the iceberg. Down below we coach boys to Under-11 with Centres of Excellence of U14 and U15. Next year we will have them at all ages from U11 to U16.

Both Jim Melvin and I have the responsibility of building up the youth policy. The watchword must be quality both of player and person and I firmly believe that Wycombe are a club that any young player in the country would be happy to join.

Can I take this opportunity, along with Jim, to say thank you to our Centre of Excellence coaches - Naz, Adrian, Pat, our secretary Alan King, the physios Steve Cook and Dave Mell, and to Roy and Alan at Molins where we play our home games.

Thanks also to our team sponsors Angela and Lorna, and not forgetting our Centre of Excellence boys.

Just reward: Allen is presented with the player of the month award for December by Derek Vere, joint managing director of Verco Office Furniture, Wycombe's official club sponsor

On target: November's player of the month Damien Markman

Axed games means more time for yellow kit auction bids

Yellow Kit Blind Auction Application Form

Day and evening phone no(s):

The playing number of the shirt(s):

Bid amount(s):

Rules and regulations:

- 1) Bidders are allowed to submit bids for one or as many shirts as they wish.
- 2) If more than one shirt is bid for at the same, or differing amounts, then it should be clearly stated on the application form the amount of each bid for each particular shirt.
- 3) All submitted bids must be submitted in writing by 3pm on Saturday, January 27, 1996.
- 4) All successful bidders will be notified week commencing January 29, 1996.
- 5) Payment will only be requested for each successful bid.
- 6) Each successful bidder will have the choice of formally being presented with his/her shirt on the pitch before the Blackpool match at Adams Park on Saturday, February 10, 1996.

DUE to the postponed fixture on New Year's Day between Wycombe and Rotherham, the club have decided to extend the time given for supporters to submit their bids for the blind auction of the first team's yellow kit.

There will be 15 shirts auctioned in total. These included a goalkeeper's shirt worn by Paul Hyde and all the players' outfield shirts numbered two to 15.

The yellow kit was first worn by the team in the away leg of the Division Three semi-final play-off at Carlisle which Blues won 2-0.

The blind auction format means anyone wishing to make a bid for a particular shirt (s) can do so by filling in the accompanying form.

The bidder must not enclose any money with the submitted bid and payment will only be requested from successful bidders.

Anyone wishing to make a bid should fill out the accompanying application form and submit either by post to: Yellow Kit Auction, Wycombe Wanderers Football Club, FREEPOST, High Wycombe, Bucks HP12 4HJ, or drop it into the commercial offices by hand.

Ryan – The Interview

Superstar: Keith Ryan is well on his way to showing the sort of form which made him a key component of Blues' successful campaigns

Q. I thought footballers were supposed to be a superstitious lot, and here you are making your first start with the very competition in which you suffered the injury.

A. Well, I go against the grain, because I am the most unsuperstitious footballer. I am so unsuperstitious, I'm superstitious about it. I make sure nothing's the same each week.

Q. So the spectre of injury was laid to rest tonight, but were you concerned about the arrival of the rather physical, shall we say, ex-Wycombe midfielder Gary Smith?

A. Well, it's a nasty thing, actually seeing him out there against you, but I know him well and I know that if he did put a late challenge in, he wouldn't really mean it. I did hop out the way of one though – I'm no fool.

Q. How are you feeling about football at the moment?

A. Well, I'm on top of the world, having played 15 minutes on Saturday, and just over half a game tonight. It was by no means perfect, but it's getting there. I'm definitely on the right road.

Q. So is the knee fully recovered?

A. Still not perfect, as I say, but I feel no real pain when I'm playing. I do get a little twinge afterwards and have to keep icing it and take a few anti-inflammatory tablets, but basically it seems fine. It's just fitness now.

Q. You're famous for appearing to be one of Wycombe's fittest players, are you up to speed yet?

A. No, I'm quite a fair way off. Anyone who was watching tonight will know that I can get around a lot more than that.

Q. So, on that front, how do you react to the nickname Headless?

A. Yeah, I don't take too kindly to it, I'm not impressed with that (said with enough of a straight face that moving swiftly on seemed a very advisable course of action).

Q. How do you usually celebrate a win?

A. Go out and get drunk. I live

Forced to endure the long-term injury that is every footballer's nightmare, Keith Ryan is finally on the comeback trail after almost an entire year's absence. He discussed knees, second-hand cars and sporting duties with DARREN BIGNELL over a (polystyrene) cup of tea after the Aylesbury match quite close, so I'm normally out and around Wycombe of a Saturday night. It definitely takes the edge off if you don't win, but I am a great believer in enjoying it while you can, I mean, I'm the proof of that. I've had a long injury, so I've not been able to have a drink after a game. Basically I'm the worst loser you're ever likely to meet, but I still think there's a time after the game to relax, have a drink and get your head right for the next one.

Q. You've been out for a long time. How did you keep yourself motivated?

A. It was quite difficult to be honest because I haven't been training with the team for a year and the manager has only just started to see me play. And it's been a bit worrying really because my contract's nearly up and you never know what's going to happen.

But the saving grace of it all was that while I've been injured along the way so have Terry Evans, Gary Patterson at the beginning, Matt Crossley and Simon Stapleton and they've really helped me through. We all keep each other going.

If I'd been on my own then I'd have definitely gone mad by now.

Q. Your comeback will also see one of the more distinctive haircuts return at Wycombe. Are there plans to change it, a Barry Venison, perhaps, or go the other way with a David Batty?

A. No, well it was longer, wasn't it? I'm losing it a bit, so I think I'd better hang on to it while it's there. This will be about it.

Q. Is Dave Carroll, in fact, Jesus?

A. Yes, I honestly do think he is. It's great to play alongside Davey. The people who have criticised him in the past obviously don't see what he does for the team. He's absolutely out of this world in the work he does.

Q. Would you trust Terry Venables to sell you a second-hand car?

A. Probably not. But then my run of second-hand cars hasn't been too good, so I don't think I'd trust anybody selling one.

No, I think Terry's a very brave man and copes with all the pressure he's got brilliantly to do what he does, and be so relaxed all the time, I mean, I think he's got quite a hard job on his hands, especially with four or five court appearances ahead.

Q. So who are you tipping to be the next England Manager?

A. I really haven't got a clue. Robson will be involved, whether he's manager, or whether he's assistant to somebody else. Bryan Robson will be there or thereabouts, I would think.

Q. And for the Premiership title?

A. Well this year it has to be Newcastle, without a doubt, although (laughs) I think Arsenal might sneak in there.

Q. Isn't being an Arsenal fan a painful process?

A. People can say what they like about the way Arsenal play, but I'd rather support Arsenal and have won things, than watch Spurs every week with their pretty, pretty football and not have had the same success – but then I hate Spurs, obviously.

Q. What are Wycombe's chances of promotion this year?

A. Without any shadow of a doubt, we will make the top six. Whether we can make one of the top two spots, I don't know, but we will be in the play-offs and I hope I'm part of that.

Never assume

SOME time ago my wife was waiting at the school gate for our son, along with the usual throng of mums.

As they waited, conversation turned to the letter that all parents had received about class outings. It said that we should be aware that our children attended these outings at their own risk, that the county could take no liability for any accident which might occur and if we wanted to, we could take out an accident policy on our children.

This prompted one woman to start thinking about her house and contents insurance. She wondered whether it offered sufficient cover, but being written in the usual small print she found it hard to know exactly what cover the policy offered.

So, hearing that I was in insurance she asked my wife if I would go through her policy to tell her what it did.

She stressed, however, that she did not want to talk about life insurance. I agreed, and visited the family to examine and interpret their household policy. It gave them all the cover they needed, which I happily confirmed.

However, there was a point to be made. If they didn't know what contents insurance they were paying for, how did they know what life insurance they were paying for? They took the point and agreed to a review of their affairs.

On the surface they were reasonably well covered, but the bulk of the insurance on the husband's life was through his job - four times his salary, he thought, which would pay out £30,000 if he were to die.

He had no pension arrangements, having opted not to join the company scheme when he started with them. I asked if he would check the details and I would call again when he had them. He did check - and he got a shock. He had no life cover at work, because it was only available to members of the pension scheme.

When he said no to the scheme, he lost sight of the fact that he said no to the insurance as well. Ever since he had joined that company, he and his wife had been living with a false sense of security because they assumed that everything was fine. What if he had died? His widow would have received a further bitter blow instead of financial support.

The moral of this tale is, never assume.

Look at your policies, read them and make sure that they are doing the job you think they are. Make sure that they haven't expired recently, or aren't going to in the near future. And if you're having trouble with the small print, get in touch with AXA Equity & Law Personal Financial Planning. One of our consultants will be pleased to interpret for you. See us at every home game, telephone for assistance on (01494) 466691 or send in the coupon below.

New club forms

THE OFFICIAL SUPPORTERS' CLUB
By Chris Perrin

FOR the first time since our move to Adams Park in 1990, Wychcombe Wanderers have an Official Supporters' Club.

Following a meeting in October of last year, a committee was put together to form the Wychcombe Wanderers Official Supporters' Club.

The officers are: chairman Bob Cairney, secretary Keith Blagbrough, treasurer and coach travel Kena Perrin, and yours truly, Chris Perrin, as publicity officer and youth membership. We have since been joined by five more members - Eric Stanmore who will deal with membership, Harold Lunnion and Carol Teare for social functions. Colin Strange will join myself with the youth side of things, and Dave Bassett is another new face.

Our constitution was drawn up at an entertaining meeting where Alan Parry joined us for a question-and-answer session. Associate director John Goldsworthy was also in the audience.

Our aim is to support the club, hold functions for the supporters' benefits, help the juniors, and run coaches to all away games.

One idea already underway is a trip to the Williams Formula One Grand Prix Team headquarters at Didcot in Oxon. It will include a look at a private collection of all the cars that Williams have ever raced.

Harold Lunnion is organising it and he can be contacted at any home game or by telephoning (01494) 440668. Carol Teare is putting together a quiz night - so get your thinking caps on for that one.

Juniors have a say as well. An evening for them takes place on March 1 to elect two members onto the main committee, one boy and one girl aged 15 to 16. They will be able to quiz first team players and some youth team players and, hopefully, Alan Smith will attend. If you would like to sit on the committee, please put your name forward, or, you can nominate someone to sit on the committee.

The juniors can also tell us what they would like. I will be working alongside Colin Strange in arranging events for you.

Finally, the Official Supporters' Club has many benefits, but if you are not in it, you can't benefit. If you want to join, contact secretary Keith Blagbrough on (01494) 563697.

Paul Hyde and Matt Crossley are two fans' favourites

THE BLUES NEWS

JASON ROWBOTHAM

Rotherham United tickets still valid

All tickets bought for the New Year's Day fixture between Wycombe Wanderers and Rotherham United, which was postponed due to a frozen pitch, will be valid for the rescheduled date on Tuesday, February 6.

Rotherham programme available

For the rescheduled Rotherham United home fixture, Wycombe Wanderers will print a brand new programme which will be available on the night. The programme for the postponed New Year's Day fixture is available from either the Commercial Office at Adams Park; Wanderers In Town in the Octagon Shopping Centre; or the Wycombe Wanderers programme shop which is situated at the far end of the stadium and is open every first-team match day.

My 'smart' money will help Bookies

THIS looks like being one of the closest and most exciting seasons in memory in all three divisions of the Football League.

Despite criticism of the quality of football outside the Premiership – unjustified in my view – there can be no doubt about the dramatic finale that lies in wait.

At the time of writing, even Mystic McG wouldn't dare to predict the outcome of the major issues in each division. In Division One, just six points separate 13 clubs and it's just as tight in Divisions Two and Three where seven points divide ten clubs at the top of each table. The much maligned play-off system will ensure that the season goes to the wire for promotion and relegation.

Just to remind you of what's at stake, let's begin with Division One. There are 24 clubs competing for the biggest prize of all – a place in the promised land of the Premiership.

Two clubs will be automatically promoted and the next four will scrap it out for the one remaining promotion place through the play-offs.

At the moment, even our neighbours Reading (down in 18th place) are just a handful of points away from a play-off position. Similarly, a current top-six side like Birmingham would soon be in danger of relegation if they suffered a run of successive defeats. With three to go down, it really is that tight.

There will be no such thing as mid-table mediocrity for any club in Division One this season. Even a short run of success or failure will have a dramatic effect on a team's position.

By Club Director

So, who will be the lucky and unlucky clubs? Every summer I boost the profits of Messrs William Hill by trying to predict that very thing – and have you ever seen an impoverished bookmaker? Once again, I will not be troubling Hill's paying out department with my Division One bets, I fear.

Back in the Summer of 1995, the Parry pounds were gamed on promotion for Wolverhampton Wanderers and Sheffield United. At the time of writing, both clubs were in the bottom six! At least I had an each-way bet on Leicester City so I'm hoping that a certain Irishman will save me a few quid by weaving his magic at Filbert Street.

Moving on to Division Three, the 24 clubs here are chasing three automatic promotion places plus one more through the play-offs. The bottom club will fall through the trap-door into the Vauxhall Conference – or at least that's the theory. Recent events have suggested otherwise – but that's another story.

Once again, you could throw a blanket over the leading clubs at this stage of the season and it's anybody's guess in which order the top seven will finish.

My pre-season money here went on Plymouth Argyle for the championship with each-way bets on Preston North End and Wigan Athletic to finish in the top three. I'm not ordering a holiday in the Bahamas on the strength of this wager, but I'm still quietly confident!

Which brings me to the league table that we're really interested in – Division Two. In many ways, this is the most unpredictable division of all.

The 24 clubs are tightly packed (with the exception of struggling Hull City) and with no fewer than four clubs to go down, relegation is a very real threat for almost half the division.

Equally, half of the clubs in Division Two entertain realistic hopes of promotion with two clubs to go up automatically and another one through the play-offs.

For the record, the Parry prediction before a ball was kicked was success for Wycombe Wanderers, Notts County, Burnley and Bradford City. I wasn't brave enough to pick a winner so it was each-way bets on all four clubs.

Naturally, I will be happy to lose money on all my other bets if promotion for Wycombe is the only one I get right. At this stage, I see no reason to fear for my investment in the boys in blue and I honestly believe that we are in for a very exciting end to the season at Adams Park.

If I'm wrong, at least you now have written proof that football commentators don't have a clue what they are talking about!
